Going to hospital

"I was airlifted to hospital in the air ambulance after I came off my bike and hit my head. I was gutted I wasn't awake to see it! My friend remembers it all. He tells me about it when I ask.

When I got out of hospital, my mum wrote a letter to the air ambulance service and they organised a visit for me so that I could go around and look at what I missed. The helicopter was really cool!

It was amazing to see. I even met the paramedic who helped me. He told me all about how sick I was and how we flew over London in the helicopter to get to hospital. I can't believe that they got me to the hospital so quickly!"
