Going for a scan and ABI

“My mum says that when I was in hospital I had to go for a scan nearly every day. I was very sick though and the doctors were worried about what was going on inside my brain.

I don't remember anything about going for the scan when I was in hospital but I have had to go for a few since coming home. I had a scan a few months ago. It wasn't because there was anything wrong, it was just so that the doctors could check that everything was okay. I probably won't have to go back for another scan now!”
