

Having an operation after an ABI

“I had a few operations after my accident. I had an operation to stop the bleeding inside my skull. I have a few scars but you can't really see them because my hair covers them up or I wear a hat. Having an operation can be very worrying but it's really ok, the surgeons know what they are doing. After I woke up, I was glad the operation was over but couldn't remember anything about it anyway.”
