

amy

Being treated differently after ABI

“It sounds like being the centre of attention can be good to begin with but then it can hurt when people go away. You feel like they have got bored with you.

That sounds like it could be tough. It’s a good thing to have a friend like Maya around then. I’m sure she will stand by me and not get bored.

I guess I will be treated differently. That’s hard but then I am still recovering at the moment. I’m still learning to adjust and that is going to take some time.

I won’t be able to play netball for a while so it will seem funny not playing with my schoolfriends. That will be tough too.

I guess I will have to see how I do at schoolwork. Mum has already said that I might have to do some easier work to begin with. I will find that hard as I used to be top of the class and get good grades.”

